How much charge to the auction wallet?

The advantage of the auction wallet is that you do not have to pay a separate deposits (security) for each apartment, but it allows you to participate with one deposit in more auctions. With every bid you make, the amount of the appropriate deposit in the wallet will be blocked. And if someone else increases your bid, that amount is unblocked again. If you finally make a highest bid, the amount of deposit is permanently blocked (and is included in the purchase price).

Warning: If you have any amount in the auction wallet blocked and you want to bid on another auction, the remaining unblocked amount in your auction wallet must be at least as high as the deposit in that auction.

Example: If you want to buy only one of the ten apartments you are applying for, you do not have to pay all 10 deposits, but just charge the wallet to the amount of the highest security of these 10 apartments. Keep in mind, however, that if you bid on one apartment, you can only bid on the next apartment when someone in the first apartment increases you. Always at the same time you can continuously win only one apartment. For this reason, we recommend you to put (charge) the 2 highest deposits in your wallet.

However, if you want to buy two apartments, charge the auction wallet at least for an amount equal to the two highest deposits, etc.).
